DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 20-39 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-20 of U.S. Patent No. 6,635,344.

Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims of the conflicting patent read on all limitations of the instant claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 1773

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 20-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Berg et al (USP 5,891,937) in view of Peiffer (USP 5,064,407).

Claims 20, 21 and 23: Berg et al disclose an absorbent material comprising a corn residue having a moisture content of less than 10%. See col. 3, lines 3-20. Peiffer et al suggest an absorbent material in which the corn residue consists primarily chaff and woody ring (col. 2, lines 36-42). It would have been obvious for one having ordinary skill in the art to be motivated to employ the type of corn residue taught by Peiffer in the absorbent material taught by Berg in order to provide a light-weight absorbent material with improved absorbing properties because Peiffer states that such combination of corn residue composition provides highest absorbent properties with the lowest weight to the absorbent material (see Peiffer, col. 1, lines 33-41).

Claims 22 and 24: See Berg, col. 3, lines 8-11.

6. Claims 25-39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Berg in view of Peiffer et al as applied to claims 20-24 above, and further in view of Dickey (USP 4,519,340).

Claims 25 and 30: Berg et al and Peiffer et al in combination teach an absorbent material as discussed above. Dickey suggests a combination of corn residue and an active ingredient to provide deodorizing properties to an absorbent material. Therefore, it would have been obvious for one having ordinary skill in the art to incorporate an active ingredient in the composition taught by Berg and Peiffer in order to provide additional desired properties, namely deodorizing properties, to the absorbent material besides the absorbent properties.

Claims 26-29, and 31: See Peiffer, col. 2, lines 36-42 and Berg, col. 3, lines 8-11.

Claims 32-34: See Dickey, col. 4, lines 1-6.

Claims 35-39: See Berg, col. 35-46.
